EVST professor Dan Spencer will be offering a 3-credit, 2-week Travel Seminar to Nicaragua, May 28-June 10, 2013. The primary focus of the course is examining Central American views on the Environment, Human Rights and efforts toward Sustainable Development within the context of the global economy in Latin America. You do not need to know Spanish to participate. Come to one of the following Informational Meetings to learn more about this unique travel-study opportunity: Wednesday, October 24, 5:00 p.m., DHC 118, or contact Prof. Spencer at daniel.spencer@umontana.edu or 243-6111. Open to both undergrads and graduate students.

New Honors Course for Wintersession 2013: HC 395.90, Communicating Across Cultures
TR 9:00 a.m.-12:00 p.m. (1 cr.) Josh Rosenberger. Consent of instructor required.

This course provides an introduction to the values, attitudes, strategies, and behaviors associated with communication in a variety of cultural contexts. The course is geared toward students who intend to study abroad, travel internationally, work with international students or immigrants, or simply develop their understanding of other cultures. Students will explore the different ways that communication is expressed across cultures in order to better understand the dynamics of cross-cultural communication and develop the skills needed for successful cross-cultural interaction. Upon completion of the course, students will have gained the knowledge and competence to confidently communicate with people from a variety of cultural backgrounds. To request permission to enroll, contact: josh.rosenberger@umontana.edu

New Honors Course for Spring 2013: HC 395.82, Prelaw Seminar
(1 cr.) Soazig LeBihan R 5:10-6:00 p.m. DHC 117. Consent of instructor required.

This course will enhance students’ understanding of how to prepare for, and how to be successful in, law school as well as provide them with specific information concerning careers in the law. Students will gain practical insight and have the unique opportunity to interact with legal professionals and law school admission officers to explore their futures in law school and the legal profession. The main goal of the course is to help students to make a well-informed and appropriately self-aware decision about whether or not, and if yes why, a career in the law is the professional path that best suits their personality traits, their academic strengths and weaknesses, their core values, and life interests. To request permission to enroll in the course, fill out and submit the Prelaw Seminar application form:
http://www.dhc.umt.edu/current_students/student_forms.cfm#prelaw. Application deadline: November 15.

Honors Course for Spring 2013: HC 122E, Ways of Knowing II
(3 cr.) TR 9:40-11:00 a.m. DHC 117 & 118, sections 80 & 81. Pat Burke, Sue Bradford

This course traces the major Western ethical traditions, examines the influence of those traditions in normative political theory, and provides dramatic illustrations of the moral life. The readings for this course are taken from the realms of literature, philosophy, and political science in an attempt to better understand humankind’s ubiquitous characteristic of moral thinking, the need to master impulse and control behavior, and the promulgation of laws and principles of restraint in response to feelings of guilt and aspiration to holiness. Ethical theory may also be regarded as the attempt to articulate a systematic way of understanding the classical Greek (and other cultures’) concern with the good life. Students will be invited to consider alternative emphases of ethical theory, and to ask fundamental questions about the origins of authority for moral beliefs and commitments.

This course will be of particular interest for students who have taken Ways of Knowing or Introduction to the Humanities as a sequel that returns to the universal questions explored in those courses. Ways of Knowing II satisfies the General Education requirements for a course in Ethics and Human Values and in American and European Perspectives.
